

I think it is imperative that the CW subbands be maintained, for the operators who wish to use CW, as well as voice operators. The two modes on top of each other would become a nightmare for operators favoring either mode. Knowing you will find CW on the "front" of the band is convenient for all parties, and should be maintained.